Argentine, Pak climbers taken ill near Mt Everest summit

KATHMANDU: At least five climbers including two foreigners were rescued from the death zone of Mt Everest after they fell ill while descending the world's highest peak on Monday, expedition organisers said.

Garman Maria Brillard Pocard, 60, from Argentina and his climbing guide Lakpa Sherpa were rescued from South Col area after they suffered severe altitude sicknesses this morning.

According to Damber Parajuli, Managing Director at Prestige Adventure, the Argentine climber fell ill while reaching the south summit point. "They were airlifted to Kathmandu from Camp II after fellow climbers helped them to descend," he added.

A 50-year-old Pakistani climber Abdul Jabbar Bhatti and his support staff Sange Sherpa suffering from severe frostbite were also rescued by the climbers from above 8,600 m on Mt Everest this morning.

Nima Gyalzen Sherpa, Ang Tshering Lama, and Jangbu Sherpa from Sherpa Khangri Outdoor rescued the climbers giving them their supplemental oxygen and also helped them to descend the Balcony area.

"While ascending, our climbers saw two people near south summit being trapped due to oxygen depletion, and offered them a bottle of oxygen, also informed base camp commander to inform their company to arrange immediate rescue," Sherpa Khangri said in statement adding that after around two and half hours when they returned after summiting, they found that those two climbers were still there, seriously injured by frostbite. "Then, our team rescued the climber and his sherpa guide from south summit to Balcony and informed again the company to take further action," it added.

Mingma Sherpa, Managing Director at Seven Summit Treks said that his company was doing bit to rescue two climbers - Abdul and Sange - at the earliest. "Along with our own team, support staff of Sherpa Khangri, TAG Nepal and IMG also contributed a lot to expedite the efforts for rescuing our clients who were taken ill near the Balcony area," he said, adding that eight Sherpa climbers already reached camp IV to descend the climbers to camp II.

According to him, the climbers would be airlifted from Camp II once they arrive there from camp IV later today. "They are out of danger."

KATHMANDU, FEBRUARY 13

A team of Sherpa climbers today headed for the high camps from the base camp to attempt to climb the world's second highest mountain in the winter season.

According to Nima Gyalzen Sherpa, expedition leader of the Taiwanese Winter K2 Expedition, the team comprises Tseng Ko-Erh, a woman climber from Taiwan, who wanted to be the first female to scale Mt K2 in the winter season.

"We have left the base camp for the summit push," Sherpa, who is also the managing director at Dolma Outdoor Expedition Pvt Ltd, shared. If weather favours, the team will create history by scaling K2 on February 14, he added.

The team comprises Tseng Ko-Erh, Nima Gyalzen Sherpa, Furu Sherpa, Chhiring Sherpa, Dawa Sherpa, Ngima Tendi Sherpa and Ningma Dorje Tamang. All climbers are in a good shape, according to Sherpa.

Tseng has already climbed Mt Kanchenjunga in the last spring season becoming the first Taiwani woman to scale the world's third highest peak. She had also climbed Mt Everest, Mt Lhotse, Mt Manaslu and Mt Dhaulagiri, according to Sherpa.

"Tseng wants to be the youngest woman to climb all 14 peaks above 8000 m," Sherpa, who has set multiple records in mountain climbing, said, adding that if successful, she will be the first woman climber to scale Mt K2 in the winter season.

Grace Tseng sets speed record scaling Manaslu without using oxygen in just 13 hours

Published: 09:10 am Oct 04, 2022

KATHMANDU, OCTOBER 4

A Taiwanese woman climber along with legendary climber Nima Gyalzen Sherpa today made the fastest ascent of Mt Manaslu without using supplemental oxygen, officials said.

Gyanendra Kumar Shrestha, a liaison officer for the Manaslu expedition, confirmed that Tseng Ko-Erh aka Grace Tseng from Taiwan stood atop Manaslu true summit at 7:30am today as she left the base camp for summit push at 6:30pm on Monday.

Along with Grace, Nima Gyalzen Sherpa, Phurba Thiley Sherpa and Lakpa Tamang also scaled the mountain but they used supplemental oxygen, according to Dolma Outdoors. All four climbers made the speed record on Manaslu true summit, Shrestha said.

The team led by Nima Gyalzen reached camp I at 7:55, camp II at 10:25, camp III at 11:20pm, camp IV at 3:58 and summit point at 7:30am, the record shows.

summit this season. She scaled Manaslu for summit in 2019. Grace is on a mission to complete all 14 peaks at the youngest age. Multiple record holder Grace now has to climb Mt Cho Oyu and Shishapangma to achieve the feat.

Climbers make first ascent of Jugal 5 peak

By THT Online

Published: 05:13 pm Oct 26, 2023

KATHMANDU, OCTOBER 26

A team of climbers has successfully scaled a virgin peak in Sindhupalchowk.

According to Himalayan Shepherd Pvt. Ltd, renowned climbers including Pemba Dorje Sherpa, Nima Gyalzen Sherpa, Tenzing Jangbu Sherpa from USA, singer Sajja Chaulagai and Jaime Salinas from Mexico stood atop Jugal 5 peak on Tuesday.

The climbers have already returned to base camp, the company said. "Under the 'First Ascent Nepal, USA and Mexico Friendship Expedition', the team has obtained climbing permits for Jugal 3 (6,184m), Jugal 4 (5,936m) and Jugal 5(5,922m)," said the Department of Tourism.

The expedition has jointly been organised by Dolma Outdoors and Himalayan Shepherd. The team has, however, halted its plan to climb the remaining two peaks due to bad weather conditions, according to the organizers.

Sajja Chaulagain, who won the Title of Nepal Idol Season 3, has been attempting to scale unclimbed peaks under the slogan 'From Unheard to Unstoppable: Climb for Women in the Arts'. Grandson of record-holder mountaineer Ang Rita Sherpa, Tenzing Jangbu has been climbing mountains to inspire the younger generation to study and experience mountain life.

Nepal First Ascents: Tengri Ragi Tau, Dhamovar, Jugal 5

Several teams have just returned from Nepal with first ascents and new routes on rare peaks. Some were alpine style, others traditional Himalayan tactics, some were easy, and some were harder. Even small commercial teams joined the trend. It is a reminder that original adventure remains in the Himalaya, as long as you steer clear of the 8,000'ers.

Rolwaling

Marek Disman and Jakub Vlcek of the Czech Republic opened a new route on the west face of 6,938m Tengi Ragi Tau in the Rolwaling Himal.

Disman and Vlcek climbed in alpine style on Oct. 29-31, with one bivouac on the way up and another on the way down. They named the beautiful direct line up the face Honzova cesta — Czech for “Johnny’s Route.” It included 80° sections and difficulties up to M5.

The climbers told Explorersweb that the 1,300m line goes up in the middle of the face, just to the left of the route known as Trinite, opened by Symon Welfringer and Charles Noirot in 2019.

Jugal 5

Nima Gyalzen Sherpa of Dolma Outdoor Expedition, his brother Pemba Dorje Sherpa, and his nephew Tenzing Jangbu Sherpa led two clients up Jugal 5 — Jaime Salinas of Mexico and Nepalese singer Sajja Chaulagain. The Nepal Idol contestant sings a few bars below:
